MOORE & PORTER.

K. of P. District Convention.

Last Friday night the Knights of Pythias of this city entertained the district convention, called by the grand chancellor, at their castle hall. Kirwin, Logan, Prairie View and Norton lodges sent good delegations and the capacity of the hall was taxed to accommodate the crowd. The grand chancellor was unable to attend on account of pressing business, but was ably represented by S. O. McDowell, of Columbus, who exemplified the secret work of the order in a very entertaining and instructive manner. After conferring degrees upon Messrs. Bridgman and Gleissner the lodge and visiting brethren repaired to the Albaugh and Barrett restaurants where they discussed fresh oysters in every style for an hour. After supper was over all returned to the lodge room where a pleasant social session was held, after which good-nights were said and the pleasant convention was over. Many subjects of interest to Pythianism were brought up and discussed and much good accomplished by the meeting.

Woodman Installation.

In the presence of a large number of neighbors, their wives and invited guests, the officers of Sweet Briar camp No. 546, M. W. A., were duly installed last Friday night. District Deputy E. E. Brainerd acted as installing officer, employing the impressive ritualistic ceremony of the order. Following are the officers installed: Perry Crookham, V. C.; C. J. Fleming, W. A.; James Woods, banker; D. S. Maxson, clerk; F. A. Smith, escort. In addition to the installation ceremonies, Neighbor Lewis had arranged a very enjoyable program of music, consisting of solos by Mesdames Tadlock, Poe and Miss Sundstrom and a duet by Mesdames Lewis and Hageman. Addresses were given by Messrs. Royce, Hageman and Brainerd. The neighbors and their guests then repaired to the Armory where they partook of a delicious oyster supper. Altogether the occasion was a very pleasant one, and was enjoyed by all.

Officers Change.

Last Monday at noon the term of the officers domiciled on the north side of the court house expired and their successors were duly installed. Messrs. Strain, Thomas and Barron succeeded themselves. Judge Pratt retired from the office of county attorney and was succeeded by W. G. Bissell. Commissioner Veeh's time expired as chairman of the board, and Mr. Hageman was elected chairman upon the organization of the new board. Judge Pratt, the only retiring officer, steps down and out of the county attorney's office for the fourth time. He has served his county long as well as faithfully. Mr. Bissell is a young man who is winning an enviable place in the profession of law, and if he looks after public matters relating to his official duties as well as he has his private practice, he will make an excellent officer.

Silver Wedding Bells.

New Year's morn dawned cold and crisp, brighted with season's greeting. Notwithstanding the frost and cold we followed the jingling of the silver wedding bells, which lead us over rough and hilly roads, through smooth and level lands, until we reached the comfortable and hospitable home of W. H. Joyce at Woodruff, Kans. Here we were greeted with a warm fire and heartily welcomed.

Although the thermometer registered twenty below zero friends came from far and near, both old and young until upwards of thirty-five had assembled to participate in the festivities of the day.

After a brief time was spent in warming and getting acquainted, our host and hostess announced dinner, which proved their ability of hospitality, for the table fairly groaned under the weight of good things which Kansas knows how to produce and our amiable hostess to prepare. All did justice to what was placed before them, while many were sorry that depositing capacity was so small, and the dinner hour passed so soon.

The afternoon was spent in a social way interspersed with music, song and pleasant conversation.

The beautiful as well as valuable gifts are only a partial expression of the esteem in which the happy couple is held in the community. (The list of presents could not be printed owing to lack of space.)

As the day drew to a close, one by one departed for their home wishing the happy couple many more anniversaries, and that in twenty-five years hence all might gather again to participate in a golden wedding with them.

Embarassing The Supreme Court.

It is impossible to ignore the fact that President McKinley's action in offering honor and emolument to the sons of two supreme court justices at the present juncture argues a deplorable lack of tact and discretion, if, indeed, it implies nothing worse. The question of the fitness of the men thus honored does not enter into consideration. Presumably Lieut. F. B. McKenna, who has been promoted to be an inspector-general of volunteers, with the rank of major, is a worthy officer. Certainly no one familiar with the attainments of James S. Harlan of this city will be disposed to deny his personal fitness. Nor are the American people in general willing to believe that the justices whose sons have been thus favored are likely to let themselves be influenced by personal favors.

Let these facts be conceded and the appointments mentioned still show an astonishing indelicacy on the part of the administration—an indelicacy which is all the more deplorable when it is considered that the administration cannot be excused on the plea of ignorance of the situation. When Mr. McKinley selected Mr. Harlan and Lieut. McKenna for lucrative positions in our island possessions he must have been perfectly well aware that he was giving out substantial favors to the sons of justices before whom questions involving those island possessions must come. It is in no sense a reflection upon those justices to say that they have thus been placed involuntarily in the attitude of being put under obligations. The fact that they will try to ignore these obligations makes no difference. They have been placed deliberately in a position in which men of less integrity might be influenced to favor the administration, while men of integrity but of less breadth of view might be influenced to oppose the administration's side for the sake of appearances.

President McKinley's proneness to offend in this way stamps him as a man of wretched taste, when the best is said of him. These shameful appointments, made while the fate of Porto Rico is in the balance, imply incredible dullness on the part of the chief executive or a degree of cynicism that properly calls for a stern reproof from the people.—Chicago Record.

Old Men Fight.

It is reported to us that James Statten aged 83 years and George Clinkenbeard aged 62 years fought to a finish at Reamsville last Thursday. The cause of the fight was not given, but it resulted in a victory for the "old" man, that is the 83 year old man.—Smith Center Messenger.

experiments, still trying, to discover some solution for the puzzle in the Philippines.

What effect the newest experiment will have on the situation in the islands cannot be known until time has elapsed, but if the Filipinos are actually animated by the genuine sentiment which seems to have inspired them and which is claimed for them—the desire for liberty—the presumption is that such policies will but stimulate them. The threat of exile as a punishment is not likely to prove productive of good results.

It will occur promptly to the mind of any thoughtful student of the whole subject that the establishment of a system of deportation is one of the most intolerable of all the radical actions into which the administration has led the country. To arrest and deport an offender without trial at the will of an executive, by what is known in the country most cursed by it as "administrative process," is considered the most evil practice of the penal system of Russia. Truly, it is not yet suggested that the material pains of Siberian exile are to be duplicated in Gaum, but it is hard to differentiate the morals of the two systems.

Even Russia seems to be on the way to the abandonment of exile to Siberia. New Caledonia and Devil's Island remain to the French, Chatterinas to the Spanish, and neither is worthy of imitation. With transportation of offenders to Australia long abolished, England's record now is clear in this detail except for the deportation of conspicuous military prisoners. The griefs of Arabi Pasha in Ceylon and the queen of Madagascar in Algiers have been told with sympathy in the United States until now. An American St. Helena in Gaum for the punishment of men who three years ago had never heard of this country except as a great republic whose sympathies were with every effort for liberty is not likely to be a source of pride to this republic.—Chicago Record.
